1. All material released is in accordance with SEC regulations and company policy.
2. All announcements are made in a timely manner, as events occur, or as close to the timing of the event as practical.

To keep our shareholders as informed as possible, we are expanding our website as a primary vehicle for posting the most up-to-date, comprehensive information allowable by regulations about our company, products and technology.

We hold very closely to these principles of honest, clear and timely reporting to keep our shareholders informed about the progress and development of our company.
